

An Early Childhood Network

Connecting local and statewide efforts to improve the wellbeing of children, families, and communities.

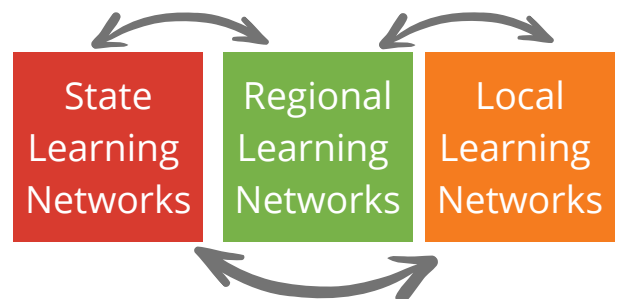

Who We Are

Washington Communities for Children (WCFC) is a network of coalitions, organizations, and individuals who have come together around a shared goal: improving child and family wellbeing. There are 10 regions across Washington State that make up the network.

How We Work

WCFC is organized around six Learning Networks. Six state teams meet regularly to build relationships, learn together, identify challenges, and test ideas. There are also Regional and Local Learning Networks. This structure is essential in connecting systems together.

WCFC Learning Networks

DATA

Data Learning Network

Focused on assessing existing data to inform continuous early childhood resource system improvement and exploring opportunities for alignment across data systems.

EQUITY

Equity Learning Network

Focused on identifying frameworks, tools, and strategies to embed equity in the WCFC network and early childhood resource system.

FAMILY VOICE

Family Voice Learning Network

Focused on promoting strategies to connect families with young children to the resources they need, when they need them. This network is committed to emphasizing family and community voice in system co-design efforts, especially of those most impacted by system inequities.

HEALTH PROVIDER VOICE

Health Provider Voice Learning Network

Co-designs strategies to connect child and family health providers with one another and the community, to strengthen referral pathways, and remove barriers for families accessing services. Works to advance and support systems change and policy change as it relates to supporting all families in healthcare settings.

POLICY & ADVOCACY

Policy & Advocacy Learning Network

Focused on identifying and advocating for resources and policies that improve the wellbeing of children, families and communities.

RESOURCE NAVIGATION & ACCESS

Resource Navigation & Access Learning Network

Focused on informing a more cohesive statewide system of resources for children, their families, and organizations; collaborating to improve resource navigation and remove barriers for families.

Learning Networks meet monthly. Child care stipends and translation services are available. Closed captioning always provided.
